THE disgusting stories about Governor Cleveland were first published in Democratic papers, and were first talked about in Chicago, who, on account of his private life, they urged was not fit for a candidate for the Presidency. The Rochester Union, and the Cincinnati Enquirer, both Democratic papers, and the Buffalo Telegraph, an Independent Journal, were the first to puplish the scandal, the Unionleading. Mr. Purcell, a Democzatie candidate for elector, was editer of the Union. He withdrew as a candidate and as editor after Cleveland's nomination.

The Beginning.

It was a merry and pleasant party that assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Rogers on the evening of the 6th of August, to celbrate the marriage of their daughter Jennie, to Mr. S. H. Agnew. Of course this was a neighborhood affair, as such things always are, but here, the high contracting parties have been so long and so well known and have so fine than ordinary interest to our quiet social circles, and besides, we are always willing to be the guest of Mr. Rogers and his good wife on any of occasion, but to be guest at such a time, is an event to be chronicled and membered. The eventual was a preference makes that often trying ordeal a herief and pleasant exercises.
